Dave was so full of energy it's still hard to accept he has passed. At least he is no longer in strife but I'll picture him camping in Colorado something he talked about doing in retirement. I wished he got to play more in his life because I know he worked so hard. He was always working up until he got cancer...He'd probably be trucking right now. He was a wild man but he showed so much love and kindness. For that I'll always respect and love him for. Dave you were a true friend, an animal lover, patriot, hard working family man, you believed in what you believed in and you always stood up for it no matter what. You probably backed up more miles than most have gone forward with your over a million safe miles driven. You will be missed more than you know, Great White Buffalo but it was time to go home.
